In Memoriam

"SOLACE"

I had a need of stars tonight,
Of stars ineffable and still.
I had a needof stars tonight,
And so I climbed this hill,

To see if night might ease my pain.
I stand and watch the stars go by;
Like calm and holy thoughts they drift
Across the midnight sky.

And suddenly, I, Too, am still,
And know that God is always there
Beyond the night, beyond the stars,
And I am in his care.

In memory of Mr. Russell C. Grishaw who died August 14, 1976. He will always be sadly missed by his wife, Nellie and daughter, Vivian. 8-10-1tp

Decorator's Notebook

TODAY'S FREE-FLOW KITCHENS OFFER MORE THAN JUST COOKING

You don't have to waste space cooking up a great kitchen and improving the rest of your house—if you do it the modern way.

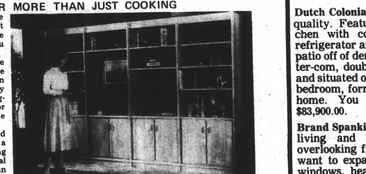
Once a walled-in cubicle isolated from the rest of the house, the kitchen has taken on new life in contemporary home planning. It is emerging as the nerve center for today's busy family, the focal point of activities.

New design thinking and materials have encouraged a free flow of kitchen styling beyond its traditional boundaries. The result is an attractive integration of functional furnishings and decorative themes into other rooms in the home.

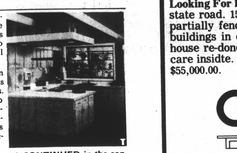
A new European-influenced storage system, called "Nordic Oak" and designed by DelMar, is one of the latest steps in this inventive new direction. The system includes kitchen cabinetry, bath vanities and storage units, and a complete modular wall system, based on the same attractive cabinets used for the kitchen.

It's a practical and attractive solution to chronic space shortage. Roll-out bins and custom accessories organize space effectively, while wall utility cupboards and fold-away pantry cabinets stash away foodstuffs and cooking utensils.

The new system's natural woodgrain expression is made practical with new materials. Doors and drawer fronts, for example, are fabricated with Formica brand decorative laminate in a pale oak woodgrain design, matched to the quality all-wood construction of the cabinet frames. This assures easy care and the ability to take hard knocks and still look new.



THE CHARM OF THIS complete modular wall system for the family room...



IS CONTINUED in the contemporary-look, easy-care kitchen.

The natural European look of the system flows easily into other rooms. Modular wall systems keep stereos, bibelots, and treasured possessions in the public eye and other items stored away behind attractive wood-look doors.

In the bath, open-display storage combines with matched linen and vanity cabinets. The look unifies the design impact of small areas. The system is easy to clean with its melamine laminate decorative surfacing.

The quality of this furniture's construction includes commercial-type drawer slides, brass-plated hardware and self-closing hinges, features not often found in standard furnishings.

These new furniture ideas are available through remodeling and kitchen design professionals and DelMar dealers.

For a free brochure, write DelMar Cabinets, 15 Linkwood Road, N.W., Atlanta, Ga. 30311.

A RETIREMENT PLAN FOR SPOUSES

For the first time, it's possible for housewives—and househusbands—to receive a pension in their own name.

Plan a comfortable future for you and your wife.

This is done through an Individual Retirement Account. Sometimes called an IRA, this government-authorized program allows individuals to invest for retirement and get tax benefits at the same time. Employees not covered by company retirement plans can contribute to an IRA on behalf of themselves and non-employed spouses. For such an account, the maximum yearly contribution is $1750 or 15 percent of annual earnings, whichever is less.

All contributions to an IRA are deducted on your Federal income tax return, giving immediate savings. You don't have to pay taxes until you withdraw the money, normally after retirement when you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket. Dividends and other earnings won't be taxed either until they too are withdrawn.

If you withdraw your contributions earlier than age 59 1/2, however, for any reason other than disability, you'll have to pay a penalty tax.

Contributions to IRA plans may be put in trust funds, life insurance annuities, government retirement bonds or mutual funds. Mutual funds have different financial objectives and you can select a fund whose financial goals closely coincide with your own. In fact, with a mutual fund, you can aim for most any combination of safety, income or growth you wish.

A financial adviser, stockbroker, mutual fund representative or insurance agent can help you if you have questions about IRAs. You might also find some answers in the booklet, "Take A Tax Shelter Break," offered free by the Investment Company Institute, Dept. O., 1775 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

"Peace is our final good."
